

A NEW EXPERIENCE

Our departure was scheduled for April 7th, 2010, but we were excited much earlier. The days prior to our departure had been very challenging because we had to pack our bags, buy the latest things and organize everything. We had known about the trip since November; the project had been submitted to the approval of the Tuscan Region and we were waiting for the green light ...

Finally, after a long wait, the project was approved and immediately everybody began to organize the preparations for leaving.

THE NIGHT BEFORE DEPARTURE. The departure was scheduled at 4:00 a.m. Nobody managed to sleep for the excitement, we were a little frightened by the remoteness and because we did not know what we had to face up to. At 3.00 am: rrrinnng .. the alarm clock rang! After getting ready, we arranged the last things in our bags: it was time to leave! We reluctantly left the house. At the stadium, that was the meeting point, all our excitement soon disappeared when we met each other. We were sleepy and we had not even realized what was going to happen (for us it was like a dream)!

When the bus for Milan airport came, we kissed our parents good-bye and eventually we went on board!
